Methodology

20 UN Security Council Resolution 1612 established the MRM in 2005. The resolution called for monitoring of the six grave violations against children, and for these abuses to be publicly documented in an annual report. “Attacks on schools and hospitals” is one of these violations. Reporting these violations can trigger the listing of armed forces and armed groups responsible for the violation(s) in an annex to the annual report of the Secretary-General on children and armed conflict.

Countries profiled in Education under Attack 2014 had experienced five or more attacks on education or casualties among education participants, including at least one direct attack on an educational institution or the killing of at least one teacher, student, or academic. As noted above, the present report only profiles countries where 20 attacks against students, teachers, professors, other education personnel, or educational institutions were recorded over the period. The growth in the number of recorded attacks between 2014 and 2017 may to some extent reflect a welcome growing awareness of the problem and more comprehensive monitoring, but in the view of the report’s authors, attacks on education have intensified since publication of Education under Attack 2014.
